Initial Case Narrative by C. L. Berry #1088 on 09/23/04 at 1409 hrs.
Total Dictation Time = 5:16 mins.

No charges are going to be pressed in this case at this time as the victim, Jared Loughner, did not want to pursue charges until he talks to his parents.

NARRATIVE:

On 09/23/04, at approximately 1230 hours, I was contacted by the assistant principal of Mountain View High School, Susan Sloan. She stated a student, Jared Loughner, had reported that someone had stuck him with a pin, a stolen type needle, today in the cafeteria. I asked if I could speak with the victim.

The victim, Jared, stated he was in the cafeteria talking with some friends when another student identified as Anthony "Tony" Kurz had walked by him and came towards him and poked him with something sharp. Two other kids said, hey, he just poked you with a needle. He stated as soon as he figured out that he was poked with a needle, he started to become pale, got dizzy, could not stand and had to be helped to a nurse's office by another friend.

You could see that on his right arm between his elbow and his shoulder, that there was a prick mark. I asked Jared exactly how it had happened. He stated Tony had had an insert from an ink pen and through the top of the plastic part of the ink pen, he had taken a needle and pushed it all the way through one side to come out the other side and in a flicking motion made it into like a hammer that slapped into his arm and poked him.

He stated he had talked to his parents and that they do not want to press charges at this time; however they do want Tony tested to see if he has HIV or any other kind of diseases.

I asked if I could speak with the suspect. The suspect, Anthony Kurk AKA Tony was advised of his Miranda Rights at 1320 hours and stated yes, he would talk to me. He stated that his friend, Daryl Eskridge, had made this hammer type needle through the top of a plastic pen. He stated if you hold the bottom pen where the writing part is and then use your hand to pull it backwards and flick it in a hard motion, that the needle coming out the side would poke people. Tony stated he had poked himself a couple of times with the pen and tried to poke a couple of other friends; however, it did not go through their clothing. He stated he does not particularly remember poking Jared with the pen but it is possible that he could have. He stated he did not know where the needle is now as he had lost it somewhere. He stated he was sorry and he knew what he was doing was wrong but he was not thinking at the time.

I advised him the victim, Jared, did not want to pursue charges at this time; however, the next couple of days it is possible that he could be arrested for Assault.

Due to the fact the victim does not want to pursue charges, this concluded my activity in this matter at this time.
